

FRANKFORT SEEKS $5,000 FOR PARK

BIG PARADE SATURDAY TO START LOCAL FUND RAISING DRIVE

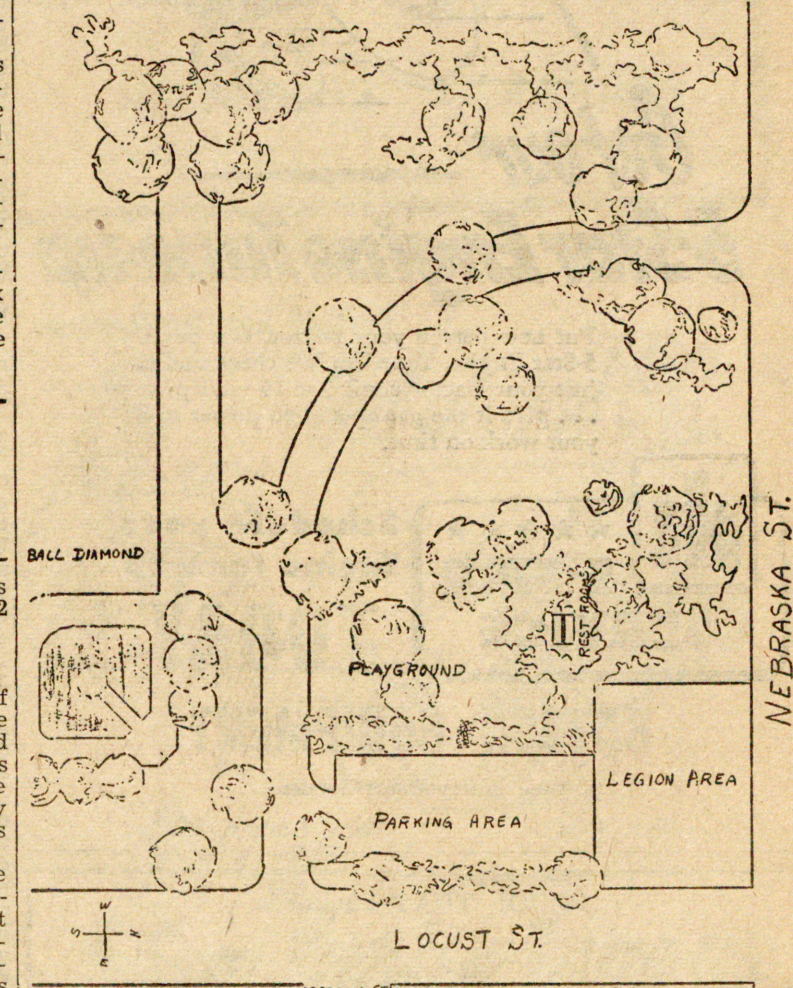

Intensive Program Includes House to House Canvass With All Groups Helping

The citizens of Frankfort are going all-out for the betterment of their village. In this case a village park is the objective and they are determined to make a big step forward this year.

About two years ago, through the efforts of some of their foresighted citizens, a plot of land consisting of 20 acres was secured, with the idea of making a place where all ages could home and drums will roll, giving the village a duplication of an old time political parade.

During the week there will be a house to house canvass and it is estimated that only $35 per family on an average, is needed to meet the goal. Contributions will be gladly accepted from anyone living outside the village. Thus Frankfort will have a park not paid through taxes, meet and have a good time. All organizations of every kind in the village put their shoulder to that project and in no time the land was obtained, much work was done by grading, for streets and ball diamond etc.

Architect's Drawing of Proposed Park

$4,611.13 was collected and out of that $3,311.89 has been spent on the initial work. Now they want to carry through with more improvements such as drainage, electric lights, water, parking facilities, toilets and many other necessary items. This has been estimated to cost $5,000, and this amount they aim to raise in a superb drive which will start next Monday, February 18 and continue one week, through Saturday, February 23.

To start the drive, a huge parade is to be staged this Saturday, February 16. The hour will be at the supper hour and will travel through the village on most of the streets. You will know when the parade is in action, for there will be lots of horn blowing, public address system to carry the idea to each but which donations can be deducted on income tax rate.

This is something indeed that the people of Frankfort can be proud of, and they are. Letters have been sent this week to everyone in the village explaining the project and a map of the planned park. The latter will afford facilities for outings, picnics, recreation and ball games. With these activities, both young and old need not travel to other points to gain entertainment and recreation. And games are being planned for the "small fry" this summer as well as night games.

Attention is being drawn to the fact that Frankfort has never had a park. All civic, social and religious organizations will be able to use it, and with everyone working for its procurement, an example is shown of perfect cooperation. Their motto is: "Each for one, and one for all." Our hats are off to Frankfort. Let's watch it develop.

Players to Present 'January Thaw'

The Mokena Village Players will raise the curtain for their second production, "January Thaw" on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, February 29, March 1 and 2 at 8:30 p.m. The story is about a New York family who buys an old farm house in Connecticut, remodel it, only to find that a clause in the deed allows the former owners, a shrewd old Yankee farmer and his wife, and son, to live in the house, too, and they move right in with the city family. It looks like complete disaster, but, in the delightful ending, all is solved.

The cast includes an independent maid (Herta Hamilton); father, who writes for a living (Dean Rueckert); his wife, with a mania for remodeling (Marcella Lehmann); tomboy daughter, Sarah, (Barbara Martie); younger daughter, Paula, (Fay Rueckert); the oldest daughter, Barbara (Carol Nichols); who is engaged to George (Norman Olson), who has a hard time proposing; Jonathan (Leo Marcoux) and Mathilda (Margaret Bass), a couple of real old settlers; a delightful old geezer, Uncle Walter (Milton Geuther); a rural Romeo, Matt (Walter Edwards); a lawyer (Charles Swanberg) and a local policeman (Henry Clark).

The play is a comedy in three acts by William Roos, adapted from the novel by Bellamy Partridge. Virginia Sherwood, who directed the very successful "Kiss and Tell" is also director for this production. The Village Players is a non-profit organization, engaged in raising money for various civic projects in the village, and is open to ALL interested in any phase of dramatic work—acting, properties, scenery building, lighting, make-up, publicity etc. From the profits of this play, the Players, with the cooperation of the Mokena Civic association, have donated a beautiful new stage curtain to the Mokena Public school, where "January Thaw" will be staged. Don't forget the dates for two and a half hours of warmth, sparkle and humor.

The officers of the Players are: president, Virginia Sherwood; vice-president, Suzanne Hamilton; treasurer, George Bills, and secretary, Donna Buschel.

Boy Scout Takes No Reward For Honesty

The R. M. J. Variety store of Frankfort was visited by a shop-lifter Saturday, according to circumstantial evidence found near the store. A fountain pen which had been dropped on the front steps of the store, was thought to be part of the loot, and a keychain flashlight was missing from a merchandise display.

James Englebrecht found the pen and recognizing it as the store merchandise, returned it. The lad was offered a reward but refused it saying he is a Boy Scout and can not accept one. Much praise is due the Boy Scouts and their leader for the training of boys like James and his troop.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mokena, Illinois
February 10, 1952
Editor, News-Bulletin,
Mokena, Illinois.

Dear Mrs. Semmler:

The past several issues of your informative paper have been quite stimulating and thought provoking. Such items as the village audit for example are most timely and necessary and reflect the good business sense of our village board.

The objections voiced by some anonymous writers can be dismissed as sour grapes. An audit is one of the fundamental practices of all organizations and especially so where public funds are concerned. It is indeed surprising that there have apparently been none in the past. Checking with former board members as was suggested by one of the anonymous writers would perpetuate any poor practices and our past questionable water revenue practice would never have been discovered nor corrected. The fact is that the present village board should be credited with uncanny foresight since the state legislature has now passed legislation making such audits compulsory in the future!

Sometime ago a letter appeared explaining a law regarding a seven man board of education for school districts of over 1,000 population. Neither the News-Bulletin nor the local school board mentioned anything regarding this subject to date. In today's Joliet Herald-News, (Feb. 10) we find an article reporting that the April 12th election will be to elect a seven man board of education in Mokena, that "at least 14 candidates will be in the field" and "that already 20 petitions of candidacy have been called for." The News-Bulletin should have cause to blush to be scooped on such a subject of vital importance to Mokena. The Civic association has discussed this subject for several months quite unaware that the local school board was even considering the matter. Couldn't there be some sort of cooperation between public bodies and the public as well as some published information of their activities? Our village board presents a good example of what I have in mind, for it does a superb job on publicity.

Very truly yours,
Fred G. Lehmann

Editor's note: On Friday afternoon, February 8, after last week's issue was out, a member of the local school board phoned the County superintendent's office for 20 petition blanks so that the blanks would be available here for anyone interested in filing as a candidate, and at that time announced that the board was passing the resolution which appears elsewhere in this edition. A thinking reader will understand that this is a weekly paper and the Herald-News is a daily paper; it was impossible for us to run the item before this issue.

A Herald-News reporter based their story on the phone call thinking that the petitions had been called for by individuals, as implied in their article. The statement "At least 14 candidates will be in the field" was also a surmise on the reporter's part. We do blush with pride that our past columns will prove we have kept our readers informed on subjects of local interest and thanks for the kind words on village board publicity; we have a reporter attend their meetings for this purpose.

Will Talk on 'Iron Curtain' Area At Civic Meeting

Thurber, a veteran of World Wars I and II, who was with the American military government in Munich from 1946 to 1950, will speak at the Mokena Civic association meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 20th. Thurber was stationed at Munich in the province of Bavaria, and less than 100 miles from the "Iron Curtain." He will tell of his most interesting experiences in that area and experiences of the local residents who "visited" back of the Iron Curtain. Berchtesgaden (near Munich) was a place often in the news when Hitler was in power. Also near Munich at Salzburg are the famous Salt mines.

At the Civic association meeting representatives from the areas around Mokena will be asked to suggest ways that the Mokena residents and people living in the subdivisions and the rural area can work together to solve some of their mutual problems.

Fertilizer's Carryover Value Boosts Yields of All Crops in Rotation

FERTILIZERS have carryover values that benefit every crop in the rotation, reports the Missouri College of Agriculture, in citing recent tests on the George Sine farm in Ozark County.

Three years ago, Sine set up test plots in his corn field. Each plot was given a different fertilizer treatment. One was left unfertilized.

As expected, corn yields were higher the year the fertilizer was added. But three years later when the plots were in legume crops, Sine reported four times as much Ladino clover growing on plots fertilized with phosphate and potash as on the unfertilized plot. The difference was even greater on the sweet clover crop. Practically no clover was growing on the unfertilized plot, while there were thick, heavy stands on the fertilized fields.

University of Wisconsin agronomists report that alfalfa yields were 2 1/2 times as big on fields topdressed two years ago with 500 pounds per acre of 0-9-27 fertilizer, is on unfertilized check plots.

Tight Phosphate Supply Spurs Need For Early Orders

FARMERS are again facing a tight fertilizer supply situation for the coming year, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"The record-breaking demand for foods and fibers to meet defense, civilian and foreign-aid requirements," says a statement issued by the committee, "means that more fertilizer will be needed to produce higher crop yields per acre."

"But shortages of vital raw materials used in fertilizer are already evident. This is particularly true of superphosphate, because of the serious shortage of sulfur. It is estimated that this year's demand for sulfur for defense purposes, industrial and agricultural use will exceed the supply by at least one million tons."

The committee lists these suggestions by Michigan State College soils men for helping farmers meet this situation:

- (1) Have a soil test made now to find out what plant nutrients it needs.
 - (2) Order your fertilizer immediately.
 - (3) Take delivery as soon as possible before the winter rush.
- "If you act promptly," says the committee, "you can probably get the grades and amounts you want. But if you delay too long, it may be too late to get plant food supplies when you need them most."
- The Michigan State scientists point out that by ordering now, farmers will help fertilizer manufacturers make room for more supplies and keep their production at a high level.

Wornout Pastures Can be Revived to Thrifty Paying Growth by Fall Renovation Program

Rough, cloddy, cut-up sod (left) prevents soil and water loss in winter. Renovated, fertilized pasture (right) gives thick, lush growth.

YOU can put new life in old, run-down pastures by a good renovation program this fall, says the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. Reinforced by liming and the use of commercial fertilizer, such a program can build wornout fields into profitable milk and meat producing pastures.

A soil test taken this fall will give you a line on the plant nutrients needed for the new seeding.

Killing out old pasture growth is the first step in the renovation job. On heavy sods, agronomists recommend using a lighted disc to cut the sod into chunks. Digging the field with a field cultivator is the second step.

Leave the field rough and full of clods over the winter. This will cut down erosion and prevent loss of soil and water even on the steepest slopes. The clods will act as baffles for melting snow or rains during winter or spring.

In the spring, go in with a cultivator, break up the clods and make a smooth seedbed.

Seeding the nurse crop and putting on the fertilizer is the next order of business. The agronomists point out that a cultipacker seeder is a good method of seeding small legumes. A firm seed bed and a good coverage of legumes can make a vast difference in the stands.

The agronomists recommend adding 400 pounds or more of fertilizer per acre at the time of seeding. The phosphate and potash will provide nutrients for fast spring growth and the development of thick legume roots and leafy topgrowth.

Nation's Food Security Calls for Long Term Soil Fertility Building Program on U.S. Farms

More and better corn per acre comes from a well-balanced supply of nutrients. Corn (right) had plenty of fertilizer; corn (left) had none.

AMERICA'S food security depends on the use of more fertilizers on more farm soils, declared Dr. William A. Albrecht, chairman of the Soils Department of the University of Missouri.

Pointing out that supplies of natural fertility in the soil are threatened with exhaustion, Dr. Albrecht called for a program that would provide long-term "sustaining" fertility.

The way to get this sustaining fertility, he said, is to put larger amounts of fertilizer deeper down in the soil.

"Starter fertilizer applied near the surface in soils which are not increasingly fertile deeper down," he said, "may get the crop off to a good start. But later on as the roots push down to more moist soil zones, they cannot find enough nutrients to carry the plant through for high yields and a high protein content."

Dr. Albrecht said that greater use of fertilizer will result in higher crop yields per acre and a larger profit margin, since production costs decrease as yields increase.

"While a higher nutritional quality is being brought into larger yields, also," he said, "this will call for more accurate balance of the soil treatments according to soil and tissue tests. Such a balance will result in more efficient use of fertilizers and more profitable returns on the investment in fertilizer."

More fertilizer will be demanded for some time ahead, he declared. At the same time, the return from plant foods will be on a sounder basis when all of the different nutrients are used more effectively both a starter fertilizer and as the sustaining fertilizer.

come to this family service. Church school at 9:30 a. m. Classes for all ages. Adults, kindergarten, juniors, seniors and Adult Bible classes. You are invited to attend.

We sincerely thank the fine folks of Orland Park for the wonderful reception you gave us. Rev. and Mrs. Robert A. DeMoss "Stop a Moment and Meditate"

In this supersonic age, we hurry around until we miss many of the great values of living. A popular song says, "The Best Things in Life are Free", but we haven't time to enjoy them. Thus many folks are frustrated and "all mixed up", so to speak.

A group of sailors lost at sea became panicky because they had no drinking water. Then, one sailor drank lower the water buckets and drank salt water. To their amazement, they had been blown into a fresh water inlet.

We need to lower the buckets of life to the values left untouched and take time out to commune with our Father. In the words of the prophet Isaiah: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee."

Rev. Robert A. DeMoss.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my appreciation for the lovely cards and other kindnesses shown to me and my family during my stay in the hospital.

MRS. ED DUNHAM

Mrs. Ed Dunham returned Friday from Silver Cross hospital where she was a patient suffering with virus pneumonia. Upon her doctor's orders she left by plane Monday evening to recuperate in the home of her sister, Mrs. John Hasslett in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Mrs. Dunham expects to remain there several weeks to regain her strength.

Miss Adeline Semmler spent the weekend with friends in Rockford. There were 14 members of the WSCS of the Methodist church who toured the Fitzgerald furniture store in Joliet recently. The store awarded a white rug to Mrs. Dean Rueckert and a brown one to Mrs. Roy Erdman.

The Guild of St. John's Evangelical church will meet Thursday afternoon, February 21. Hostesses will be Mesdames E. Munson, Anna Hensel, Wesley Capel, Alice Rauch, Louise Pfommer, William Bass, Virginia Kuehl, Julia Schiek, Myrtle Cooper and Margaret Lawrence. The Spiess brothers, Bert, Alvie, Harold and their wives gathered in the home of their brother Walter Saturday evening and helped him celebrate his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schiek will entertain their card club this evening in their home.

There were 40 young people who attended the valentine party at St. John's Evangelical church last Saturday evening. The affair opened with a pot luck dinner, followed with folk dancing, games and group singing. Mrs. Fred Lehmann directed the dancing and Mr. and Mrs. George Bills were the sponsors.

The New Lenox League members of the Methodist church invited the league members of Mokena Methodist and St. John's Evangelical church to a potluck dinner and meeting Sunday evening in their church. Following the dinner at 6:30, all joined in singing, a movie was shown, using as a Christian theme. Displaced persons, and games were played. There were 15 from St. John's church and 11 from Mokena Methodist with Mrs. T. Arthur Shoop and Rev. R. Hartung attending. Everyone had an enjoyable evening and declared the New Lenox group good hosts.

Wayne Swanberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanberg, is recovering from measles. Mrs. Jane Weir and children Kim, Billy and Peggie of Beverly Hills were guests last week in the Leo Marcoux home.

Mrs. Phillip Lenz and Mrs. Leo Marcoux drove to Geneva last Wednesday and spent the day at "The Little Travelers."

Cub Scout News

The January Pack meeting was held January 31 at Mokena Public school. It was planned at this meeting the Blue and Gold supper would be held February 28, which is regular Cub Scout Thursday night. Supper will be at 7:00 p.m. Come early for a nice get-together. A short program on the history of Mokena will be presented. The officers of the PTA, who sponsor the Cub Scout Pack 40 are cordially invited to the supper. The Cub Scout displays are in Richardson's store and Dunham's Hardware.

After the business meeting we were entertained by Mrs. Everett Creer's den with Cubs William Sayers, Allen Creer playing two selections on their trumpets, with George Phelps being master of ceremonies. Fred Keisler put on a puppet show and played a piano selection.

Awards given out were, Dennis O'Connor, Gold Arrow, James Roberts, Wolf Badge, William Seavertson, 1 Gold Arrow, 2 Silver Arrows; William Murphy 1 Gold Arrow, Kenneth Miller, Bear badge.

There were more badges to be given out but they didn't come through from the office in time so these badges will be given Feb. 28 along with the supper program.

We welcome three new boys who will be assigned to Dens in the near future; Hal Halverson, Daniel Williams and McCormick.

We also extend a welcome to Mrs. Ruth Keisler who will be a Den Mother. We regret to have Mrs. Lehmann give up her Den, but her boy is now old enough to become a Boy Scout, so she has given up her Den as of January 31.

The Cub Scouts of the Methodist church will present a short sketch on scouting at the church service on Scout Sunday and they will lead the prayer for Sunday school on Scout Sunday. —James Murphy, leader.

Building a new barn these days is an expensive undertaking. Many farmers, however, are finding that old, weather-beaten barns can be given a new lease on life through a comparatively inexpensive re-siding procedure. It consists of covering the battered building with large sheets of asbestos-cement board, a modern material that is weatherproof, ratproof

The Attack on The Schools

Extension of Remarks of
Hon. William E. Jenner of Indiana
In the Senate of the United States
Saturday, October 20, 1951
Mr. Jenner. I ask unanimous consent, Mr. President, to print in the Congressional Record the following broadcast by John T. Flynn, of America's Future. Mr. Flynn describes the way in which the collectivists have been working for decades to plant their propaganda in the schools, the textbooks, and the teachers' colleges in order to transform us into a Socialist dictatorship before we wake up to the danger.

Behind the Headlines

(By John T. Flynn)
The Attack on the Schools
I want to talk to you today about something which I am sure is very close to your minds and your hearts as Americans. You have heard, I am sure, of what might be called the war in the schools. I refer to the war between those who want to use the schools to indoctrinate the children with Socialist ideas and those who are opposed to that. I have tried to tell this story in an article which I wrote for the Reader's Digest and which appears in the current issue of the Digest. It is called "Who Owns Your Child's Mind?" One thing we are all sure of and that is that the State does not own the child's mind—neither your mind nor your child's mind nor anybody's mind. That is the Russian system.

The function of education in our public schools is to train the child to use his mind, to give him information, to train him to think and to inculcate in him those principles of moral conduct which are the accepted code of our society.

Do you think a teacher has a right to use the classroom to change the religion of the child, to make them all into Catholics or Protestants or Christian Scientists? Such a teacher would be promptly dismissed. Do you think she has a right to use the classroom to make them into Communists or Fascists or Socialists or to teach them that our system of government and our Constitution are wrong and must be changed to be more like those in Socialist England? Now if a teacher does not have a right to do this, do you think a dozen teachers in a school have a right to gang up quietly and do it, to sneak socialism over on the pupils. Of course not.

Now I make this charge and I do it deliberately, knowing full well all the facts relating to it. I charge that a group of teachers, very important in the teaching profession, many of them high up in the councils of the national teacher organizations, have been carrying on a conspiracy for a number of years to use our public schools for the purpose of indoctrinating the students in the principles of socialism. I do not mean they have succeeded in all or even in most of our schools. I do say they have succeeded in many, and maybe, in your own town.

Now let me tell you what they did. One of the leaders in this whole leftwing educational group is a gentleman named Dr. George S. Counts, a professor of education at Teachers College in Columbia University. He is a distinguished educator and is entitled to his opinions. Away back in 1932 he wrote a book called Dare the Schools Build a New Social Order? In that he said that we are in an era which has shifted away from considerations affecting human liberty and to considerations which have to do with the production and distribution and consumption of wealth. He then declared that our capitalist system no longer works, that there is no longer a choice between individualism and collectivism—that is socialism.

The choice is between two forms of collectivism: one democratic and the other feudal. Then he says plainly that the society of the future—and I quote him—"is to be a planned, coordinated, and socialized economy." Now that's plain enough, isn't it? How are we going to do this, he asks. We must do it through the schools. Dr. Counts says that the teachers should deliberately reach for power and then make the most of their conquest. He says they must shape the social ideals and behavior of the coming generation and they must shape it in the direction of collectivism or socialism.

Now you will say, after all, this is just one man's opinion. But he did not stop there. He and some other educators got a grant of $300,000 from the Carnegie Foundation to make a study of the schools. They brought this study out in 17 volumes. And in the final volume the conclusions of the study was stated in plain language that no man can misunderstand. I read it exactly as it appears there.

"The age of individualism is closing and the new age of collectivism is emerging." And then the report says that the teachers must go to work on the minds of the pupils to prepare them for the new collectivist society. And this new report was brought out under the auspices of the American Historical Association and paid by the Carnegie Foundation.

Harold Laski, one of the leaders of the British Socialist Labor Party in England, read this study and said, "This report is an educational plan for a Socialist America. It is a direct criticism of the ideas that have shaped American capitalism."

Now I have given you their own words, and these people are not unimportant people. But they did not rest here. And I'll tell you what they did. How do you reach the mind of a child in the public schools? You reach them through the textbooks and through the teachers. Therefore, the first thing they set out to do was to get the textbooks slanted in the direction of collectivism. They do not call it communism or socialism. They are too slick for that. They sneak it into the child's mind with prettier words.

Now the next thing they set out to do was to get into the schools of education where teachers are made. They have gotten into some of the great schools of education and to what ever extent they have been able to influence these schools they have been turning out Socialist teachers by the thousands.

Now if a citizen finds this sort of thing in his school and criticizes it, he is denounced by these birds as an enemy of the schools. The real enemies of education are this gang that is trying to sneak socialism into our public schools. They are the enemies of the schools.

Now let me call your attention to another magazine article printed in McCall's magazine and written by a gentleman who was at one time a commentator on the air for the extreme leftwing organ, the Nation. The article is Who Is Trying to Ruin Our Schools? Its principal purpose is to destroy the reputation of a brave and patriotic American woman who has been trying to combat this European collectivism in our American schools—Mrs. Lucille Cardin Crain. This article uses the well-known smear technique. Its purpose is to discredit Mrs. Crain.

The article picks out two other people—Allan Zoll, branded as a former Hitlerite, and the other Gen. Amos A. Fries, who mixes up in his propaganda an anti-Catholic motif. Zoll on one side is discredited as pro-Hitler and Fries on the other side is discredited as anti-Catholic, and then Mrs. Crain is put in between these two in a kind of squeeze play to smear her with the odium which the writer attaches to Zoll and Fries. But Mrs. Crain is the real target and the whole article is written in such a way so far as she is concerned to make her seem like a crackpot. I know Mrs. Crain. She is an able, judicious, brave American woman, and this article on her is one of the shabbiest things I have ever seen in a magazine, with the assumed reputation of McCall's. This is a strange cause for McCall's to support.

Now let me tell you what Mrs. Crain does. She brought into existence an organization called the Educational Reviewer. Its only purpose is to study and review school textbooks to determine whether or not they are slanted in the direction of socialism. Books are referred to professional educators to study and the reviews are available to anybody who wishes to have them.

Now let me tell you how this organization came into being. A businessman sent his daughter through a leading women's college. Being a top student she won a scholarship to a famous British school—the London School of Economics. Not knowing anything about it, the parents sent her there. She returned in 2 years a confirmed Socialist. Of course she did. That is the official educational institution of the British Fabian Socialist Society. Its purpose is to make Socialists for the British Labor Party.

The parents wondered why an American college steered their daughter into a British Socialist school. Her father wondered if there was anything like that in his community. He had the local high-school textbooks studied and was amazed at what he found. To help other parents he and some other gentlemen joined with Mrs. Crain in forming the Educational Reviewer. This highly intelligent and orderly institution has hit these sneak Socialists a very hard blow. They have set out to discredit and liquidate her. And McCall's magazine lends itself to the attack.

There's plenty more to this story. I intend to tell you more about it. I will introduce you to some of these textbooks and to some of the curious people who have been writing them. And I will tell you how to go about getting the facts straight about the schools in your town. Remember, they do not teach communism as such. The scheme is first to break down the child's faith in our form of government and then to sell him a half dozen ideas which, when all put together, mean socialism. You will see this more plainly when I introduce you to some of the textbooks.

Public Service Adds Much Equipment in Expansion Program

A new 110,000 kilowatt turbo-generator has been placed in service at the Waukegan station of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, it has been announced by Charles Y. Freeman, chairman of the utility.

The new generating unit, which took about three years to build, has been undergoing tests since December 15. Originally scheduled for service in the spring of 1952, it has gone on the lines several months ahead of schedule.

A major project in the Public Service-Commonwealth Edison system's postwar expansion program, the new Waukegan unit is the sixth new generating unit added to the system since the end of World War II. It brings to 3,062,000 kilowatts the capacity of the system's eleven generating stations serving Chicago and northern Illinois.

"Five additional units are now in various stages of construction," Freeman said. "These five, with a capacity of 660,000 kilowatts, will bring the total system capacity to 3,722,000 kilowatts by the end of 1954, based on present construction schedules."

"The five units now under way include two of 150,000 kilowatts each at Edison's Ridgeland station, one of 60,000 kilowatts at Public Service's Dixon station and two of 150,000 kilowatts each to be installed at the new Will County station of Public Service on the Illinois waterway between Lockport and Lemont. Construction of the latter station is expected to get under way later this year."

The new Waukegan unit is the sixth to be installed in that station and the first addition at the plant since 1931. It increases total capacity of the station from 278,000 to 388,000 kilowatts.

The new unit operates at a steam pressure of 1800 pounds per square inch and at a steam temperature of 1000 degrees F. to obtain increased efficiency. The largest unit previously installed at the plant operates at 635 pounds pressure and 775 degrees F. Increases in steam pressures and temperatures have been made possible by important advances in metallurgical research which have resulted in advanced designs for turbo-generators, Freeman said.

The Waukegan generating station is the principal source of electric power for Public Service Company's northern division which covers an area extending from Chicago's city limits to the Wisconsin state line including all of Lake County and parts of Cook, DuPage, and Kane and McHenry counties.

A Safe Hog House

A truly safe individual hog house is something any farmer who ever has been attacked by a vicious sow will appreciate. Such a hog house has been designed for simple construction from durable materials.

The hog house is an eight-foot square at the base, tapering on all four sides to a four-foot square at the top. The top opens upwards, enabling the farmer to walk erect through a door on one side. If attacked, escape is easy.

The house is built on three skids or runners. Its low height (3½ feet) and small size conserve the heat from the sow.

The entire structure is built by applying asbestos-cement board over a wood framework.

Plans for building the safety hog house can be obtained free by writing the Asbestos Farm Service Bureau, 221 North LaSalle St., Chicago 1, Ill.

Homes for Christ

Lesson for February 17, 1952

WHAT is a Christian home? It is no solemn place, for "solemn" is not another word for "Christian." It is not an "American" home, because while Christians can be Americans, and vice versa, the two words do not mean the same thing.

Sending off the little ones to Sunday school every Sunday morning, or even piling the whole family into the car and going to church 52 times a year, will not quite do it. For church-going is only one part, and the easiest part, of being Christian. What about the rest of the week?

Does Jesus Get Beyond the Front Door?
THE home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus, where Jesus often visited, we can think of as in many ways a Christian home. Jesus was welcome there; he dropped in any time, he felt at home.

Now Christ is most at home (as any one is) where people are congenial, where the attitude to the things men live by—work, play, love, worship—is the same as his attitude.

Also in the Bethany home they listened to Jesus. It is well to have a Bible in the house; but that alone will not make it Christian. Is it read? Do the children when growing up hear the words of Jesus from the Gospels? Do they hear his voice as often as they hear the voice of Mr. Cassidy or the Lone Ranger?

How the Home Can Serve
THERE are three ways in which the home of today can serve Christ. One is in connection with the church. Except in rarest cases, every Christian home should be an actual part of some Christian church. A church which has no cooperation from the homes in its community will be a dying church.

The liveliest churches, on the other hand, are those where homes and church do the best team-work. To take only one example: Does your home work together with your church in the recruiting of ministers?

Ministers have to come from somewhere, and the best ministers don't all come from preachers' homes by any means. How about the boys in your home? If one of them felt an urge to be a minister or a missionary, would the rest of you laugh him out of it?

Another way for the home to serve Christ is in treatment of strangers. When strangers move into your community, or live there for a short time as school teachers sometimes do, is your home open to them? Is your house a "home away from home" for lonely people?

When you have a party, do you invite always only those who can invite you back, or do you (as Jesus suggested) include people who will probably never be able to repay you? A home that prides itself on being "exclusive" has forgotten Jesus' words—"I—as a stranger, and ye took me in."

Serving the Children
A Christian home, moreover, will serve its own children in Christ's name. In it children will hear about Christ, not as a past figure in history but as a Living One. Parents will teach them Christian patterns of living.

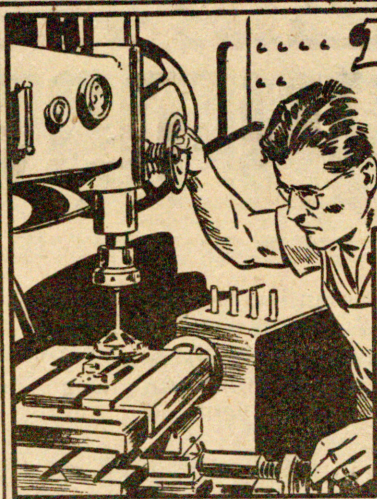

This will not be merely something they hear about in Sunday school, it will be the pattern of life in which they are trained from day to day, beginning even before they can remember. This home, if it serves its children as it should, will show them how to help Christ. The children will know about the church ("His body," said Paul) and what it is doing in his name around the world. From their earliest years they will be helpers in this work. They will not grow up thinking of "missions" in some vague way, but they will know and be thrilled by the great story which that single word carries.

And the children in a Christian home will be helped by Jesus far more than they help him. Even at the beginning of childhood they will learn to say "Dear Jesus, help me," when the mean word or the angry act are just almost exploding. Even as children they will learn something of what in older years will mean much more, the "practice of His presence."

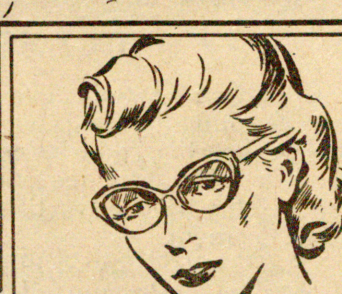

But no one can learn from the ignorant. And children will never learn these things at home without help. A home does not begin to be Christian with the children, but with the parents. Whatever good the children learn, father and mother must learn it first.

FAST, UNIFORM, ACCURATE DRILLING

• MM Drills for every purpose.
• MM Monitors were the world's first commercially successful grain drill.

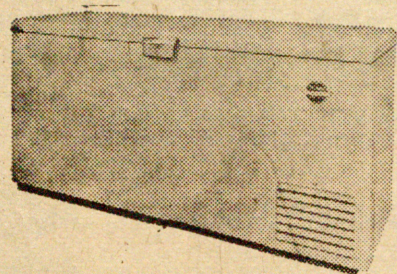

No matter what crops you decide to sow, you will find a Moline-Monitor will handle the job fast and accurately, without danger of injuring the most delicate seeds. The rugged construction of hoppers, frames, axles and wheels add up to dependable, efficient operation.

FAMOUS MM FLUTED FEED
Famous MM Fluted Feed prevents bridging and grinding of seed. Revolving wall plate extends almost to the top and bottom of the deep feed cup to further assure a positive even feed. A high-quality steel compression spring holds the cylinder firmly against the close-fitting cut-off roll. Flax and other small and expensive seeds can easily be handled without additional equipment.

MINNEAPOLIS-MOLINE
Come in and get the facts about MM Drills with a choice of single or double discs, press wheels, deep furrow or lister openers, and other specialized equipment.
